

Calendar listing

11th Annual Vermont Fall Open Studio Weekend Features 96+ Art Sites Statewide September 30 & October 1 2023.

The 11th Annual Fall Open Studio Weekend, gives visitors and shoppers an opportunity to tour the autumn landscape of Vermont to visit more than 96 art studios and galleries in towns statewide. Glass blowers, potters, metal workers, jewelers, weavers, painters, woodworkers, photographers, book artists, printmakers, felt makers, dyers, and rug hookers invite visitors to come into their creative workplaces, to discover, ask questions, and buy original artwork. Part of the adventure is planning your own tour through the beautiful Vermont landscape to find studios in small towns, and rural communities, and to view the works where they are created. Find info, maps, and images of artworks at www.vermontcrafts.com.

Sample Artist Adaptation

Open Studio Weekend at Lucia Bragg Pottery September 30 & October 1, from 10 to 5 each day.

Grand Opening Celebration. You are invited. See my technique of applying botanicals to my wheel thrown mugs and platters. I am one of 95 other art sites in the tour and one of 9 in the Montpelier/Northfield loop, a local subset of this statewide event. Stop in at XXX Elm St, in Montpelier, and meet me, view seconds and experiments, and play with clay! Hear why a Climate Disaster Mitigation specialist has embraced a life of clay. Contact Lucia at (802) XXX-XXX email address or visit website. To see everyone in the statewide tour go to Vermontcrafts.com.

Calendar Listing Parts – all very short/condensed, nothing flowery.

Title of Event

When and Where

Duration

What is it and why should people attend.

What will visitors find at the event

How to contact you.

Photos are great to include. See more about different kinds of photos on the Artist Resources page.